I. J. MOORE PAYS THE PENALTY OF HIS CRIME

One Hundred and Fifty Armed Men Take the Prisoner to the Woods and Hang Him.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 17, 2 P. M .-A special dispatch to the News and Courier from Spartanburg to-day says that at about 12 o'clock last night a body of one hundred armed men entered that town on horseback and proceeded to the jail, where they demanded John Moore, a prisoner committed for the outrage and murder of Miss Heaton on the 5th instant. Sheriff Thompson having been warned that an attempt would be made to lynch the prisoner had removed him to the Air Line Railroad near the town intending to board the northern bound train and reach Columbia, but he had been watched, and before the train arrived the lynchers secured Moore and took him to the scene of the murder, near Welford, twelve miles distant, where they said they would hang him at 10 o'clock this morning. Moore and his victim were both white.

LATER. Augusta, Ga., June 17.—J. J. Moore who has been confined in Spartanburg. S. C., jail for the supposed rape and murder of Miss Frances Heaton, of Pickens county was forcibly taken possession of by a party of infuriated citizens last night and hanged at 8 o'clock this morning in the woods near the place where the remains of the murered lady were found. Moore asserted his innocence to the very last.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—SENATE.— The bill to amend the act of 1793 for enrolling and licensing vessels in the coasting trade was again taken up.

The army appropriation bill was then committee amendment previding that members of the next two graduating classes at West Point may receive $750 on completion of studies and return home for two years was stricken out, as were also all clauses forbidding promotion in any branch of the army. A long debate then ensued with reference to the meaning and objects of that clause of the 5th section, concerning the use of the army "for police purposes to keep peace at the polls." Senator Blaine offered an amendment prohibiting all carrying of weapons at polls under penalty of fine and imprismment. Senators McDonald and Beck then read extracts from letters and other documents to show that interference of the army at polls was not an imaginary danger, but had occurred. Senator Withers said he should endeavor to secure a vote on the pending bill

It is also reported that Midhat Pasha will receive permission to come to Constantinople. Pasha has denounced Osman Pasha's administration of war office. It is thought that Caratheodori Pasha and Muriff Effendi will be shortly appointed as the Ottoman Commissioners to settle the Greek boundary question. A demonstration is apprehended at Phillipopolis when the prince of Bulgaria is installed at Sofia. Several superior functionaries and deputations from various Roumelian towns will go to Sofia to attend the ceremony and con-

The Democratic Caucus. WASHINGTON, June 17 .- The Senate Democratic Caucus this morning took no action on Senator Bayard's resigna-tion of the chairmanship of the Finance Committee, but after consuming an hour and a half in debate adjourned until to-morrow. Indications were very clear, however, that the resignation will not be accepted, and that the silver bill will therefore be left in the hands of the Finance Committee until next session.

Day before yesterday afternoon, they were taken out of town and their scent-ing qualities tested. A negro boy was hired to play the part of the fox in the school boy's game, and given ten min-utes the start of the dogs. He took a devious way through the woods, crossing his own track time and again. As soon as the hounds were turned loose they took the trail and followed it, scarcely faltering once, and with such rapidity that the negro who failed to select his tree beforehand, just did get up in time to save himself. The race vas a perfect success, and showed that the dogs possess all the qualities that have been claimed for them. Thieves will do well to make a note of this.

Matters in Winston.

Correspondence of the News. Winston, June 16 .- Last Saturday vening two negroes, Burl Scales and Jim Pattor, factory hands, being par-tially inebriated got into a quarrel about a weman, when Jim advanced to attack Burl who drew a small four-shooter and fired, the ball taking effect in the abdomen. They then clinched and fell, Burl's hand striking the fence and losing hold of the pistol which Jim seized, and with it struck Burl several blows upon the face or neck. The pistol was wrested from him, the two sep-arated, Jim being carried into an adjacent cabin and medical aid summoned.
Burl make his escape before the police could be notified. The wounded man was taken to his home where he was attended by Doctors Roan and Bahnson, but died at 8 p. m. Sunday night. The deceased was a large muscular fellow, aged forty or forty-five, Burl was twenty-one or twenty-two and of small stature. Jim had a wife, Burl was unmarried. There are many versions differing widely as to facts and details, but the above was received soon after the affair, from an eye witness and the one who wrested the pistol from the combatants and delivered it to the chief of police, and is doubtless perfectly correct.

New Inlet Finally Closed---Walking Over Dry Shod.

Wilmington Star, 15th. "Editor Morning Star: - I have the pleasure of informing you that New Inlet is closed. This great damager of our river, and obstructor to navigation, which for one hundred and eighteen years has confused, and to some extent, I may say, perverted the internal im-provement system of the State to her great damage, is now obliterated. It was accorded to me by the engineer in charge of the work, the honor of first walking across, which I accomplished at 12 m., this day, dry footed, from Federal Point to Zeke's Island, a distance of near a mile, in the company of my grandson, William M. Parsley—five other members of my family (a daughter, grand-daughter, and three grandsons) witnessed the performance. pesides a number of spectators.

Horrible Story from Mexico.

Logansport Journal.

Last week, in Chihuahua, a womar went into a shoemaker's shop in front of his dwelling and was measured for a pair of shoes. The son of Crispin said to the woman: "You have a very pretty foot." "Do you think so?" said she. He replied: "Yes; that is the prettiest foot in Mexico." The woman was to come back next day and leave $1, when the shoes were to be com-menced. The shoemaker's wife, hearing all, said nothing. The next day the shoemaker was out when the wo-man with the pretty foot called, according to agreement, and the wife got her into the back room and stabbed her to into the back room and stabbed her to death. The wife then cut a steak out of the dead woman's leg and packed the body under the bed. The shoemaker came home and ate his dinner. The wife asked him how he liked his meat. He answered that "it was the best he had ever eaten." The wife then told him he had ever eaten a vert of "the prestihim he had eaten a part of "the pretti-est leg in Mexico." He asked her what she meant. She showed him the body under the bed, and made a dash at him with a knife, but he escaped and ran to the Palacio and told the judge what had happened. The judge summoned a guard of soldiers and went to the house. He asked the wife if she had committed the murder, and when she answered yes and attempted to justify the act, he ordered her to be shot on the spot by the soldiers, and his orders were promptly obeyed.

The roads and banks thereof, for a distance of and banks thereof, for a distance of eighty rods, swarmed with young frogs. These animals were scarcely an inch in length. NO CLUE AS YET TO THE HULL MURDER.

A Mysterious Murder and a New Poison Which Leaves no Traces of its Use.

Washington Post. The Hull murder in New York is no less of a puzzle now than when committed. The various theories regarding it have each been worked to an apparently satisfactory conclusion. In accordance with the belief that some one in the house did the deed and then removed a few articles of value to give the affair the appearance of a robbery, thus diverting suspicion, the house has been ransacked from top to bottom. Every article of furniture has been examined, sounded, and in some instances taken apart. Plumbers have taken out every pipe in the house in the search for the missing jewelry. It is believed that nothing has been discovered, either by the examination of the house or through the watching of the inmates. The other was that the murderers were outsiders, admitted to the house by the rulers of the kitchen. The latter rarely saw Mrs. Hull, and did pretty much as they pleased, at times admitting men to the servants' quarters at unseasonable hours. The husband of the cook is a known desperato, with a fondness for jewelry, who has slept at the house on several occasions. In vestigation has, however, convinced the police that he had nothing to do with the crime. As far as proof is con-cerned this second theory has failed as utterly as the first. The detectives and police give out vague suggestions of evdence sufficient to cause arrests, which will be developed before the inquest on Wednesday; but it is not believed that the murderers are any nearer discovery than when the search began. Cerain facts which were thought to furnish clues have been followed up with no results. The pet dog, which died shortly before the murder, turns out to have been the companion of Doctor Hull and not of Mrs. Hull, and to have died of over-feeding and lack of exercise, not from the effects of poison. The knots with which the murdered woman was bound were of two kinds, the surgeon's knot and the ordinary louble-turn knot. It was to be inferred that two persons had a hand in the finding, one a surgeon or a medical man. But, in fact, only a small pro-portion of surgeons use the knot named after them, and it is also employed among sailors and other out-

So far as known, all attempts to connect Dr. Huil with the murder, either by ascribing a plausible motive, or by discovering any direct proof, have failed. The fact that a strong light had been placed close to the eye, singeing the eyebrow, presumably for the purpose of determining whether death had occurred, was thought to be significant of the hand of a medical expert. But the surgeon at the Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital says that readier and more certain tests would naturally be The infant daughter of Mr. W. A. tried by medical men, while a nonexpert who had heard of this test, would be likely to adopt it. This authority also says that there are abundant grounds for believing that if a person stood with a lighted candle peerminutes after death, a proper treathent of the retina with a solution of alum or common salt would, three hours after death, have exhibited the murderer's image and given a certain clue to his identity. This experiment has been successfully tried with the inferior animals, and he thinks the fact should have been investigated in Mrs. Hull's case. Another physician furnishes a suggestion to the effect that the instrument of suffocation which caused the death of Mrs. Hull may have been a drug and not a pillow, as generally supposed. He cites nitrite of amyl as a substance of which a small quantity would produce death by suffication, and which has a fleeting though strong odor. If this drug is really capable of producing death in this way, without leaving a trace of its use, a very startling fact is established, and murderers have gained a weapon more terribly useful for their purposes than any of the mythical mysterious poisons of olden time. But it remains to be established that this drug can be used so successfully in a way to baffie detec-

The Littlefield Case.

Charlotte Observer. The following is an editorial paragraph in the Washington Republican:
"General Milton S. Littlefield, a notorious North Carolina lobbyist, who is reputed to have gobbled up two-thirds of the railroad property of that State, now enjoys the protection of Demo-cratic Governor Drew, of Florida, who refuses to listen to what the Governor of North Carolina has to say in this case. Littlefield enjoyed a similar immunity from arrest under requisitions from the Old North State while the Republicans had control of Florida. It will be in order now for the Democrats to say something about the harbor and refuge afforded to thieves and plunderers by Governor Drew's administration; that is, unless it makes some difference to them whose ox is being gored."

It is hardly worth while, but nevertheless we will set the Republican right about this matter: One of the causes of the failure of the State of North Carolina heretofore to secure the presence here of General Littlefield, was the refusal, more than once, of a Republican Governor of Florida to honor the requisitions issued for him by different Governors of North Carolina. When Drew, a Democrat, was installed in the executive office, he installed in the executive office, he promptly honored Governor Jarvis' requisition. Littlefield was arrested released on habeas corpus-by who? Why, by a Republican judge. In view of these facts it is quite clear that the Washington Republican's indictment of Governor Drew will not

The Timber Question.

Elizabeth City Falcon. Why is there not a tax placed upon every round log that is exported from the State? Another Chance of Life. N. Y. Star, 14th. N. Y. Star, 14th.

It was announced to Mrs. Smith and and Covert D. Bennett, in the Jersey City jail yesterday, that principally through the kindness of Miss Abbott sufficient money had been raised to make an efforto save them from the gallows. Deputy Sheriff Peel told Mrs. Smith the news. She exclaimed: "How noble! how good!" Then she wrote a letter of thanks to Miss Abbott.

Rev. S. M. Rice called upon Miss Abbott last evening, and had a long interview with her, in the course of which he handed Miss Abbott the letter which Mrs. Smith had requested him to give to her. It was as follows: HUDSON COUNTY JAIL, June 13.

Dear Miss Emma Abbott: The glad tidings of your efforts to be-The glad tidings of your efforts to be-friend me have come like sunshine here. I cannot find words to express my gratitude to those who have assisted me. I thank them all from my aching heart through you; and as to yourself, who have sweetened your charity with words of cheer and comfort, I can only pray to Him, as I do and shall, to shower Heaven's choicest blessings on your head. Trusting that this help will serve to release me from a most unjust condemnation, I am ever gratefully yours in affliction, JENNIE R. SMITH.

After sending the letter, Mrs. Smith was in a more cheerful mood than upon any day since the trial began. As she expressed it herself, "The sunlight is breaking through the clouds." Cove Bennett was also informed of his good luck, but as the efforts made for the ew trial come from those who sympa thize mostly with "the woman in the case," he is not so conspicuous a character in the general rejoicing. It will, however, equally influence his pros-pect, and he, of course, was in a better state of mind that at any time since he was sentenced. He was inaccessible to interviewers by strict orders of his

The effort to collect funds sufficient to insure a new trial for Mrs. Smith and Bennett was first promulgated in Jersey City. A subscription list was handed around among a few friends of the prisoners, and in a few days over $400 had been subscribed; but at the time of Rev. Mr. Rice's appeal to the public only $125 of this amount had actually been collected. The time was growing short, and the demands of the case were imperative, and it was under these cir cumstances that Dr. Rice concluded to make the appeal general. The theatri-cal profession generally, with their usual promptness in cases of need, proffered their services, and many measures are which will inure to the bonefit of the condemned. It is believed, however, that the generous do-nation of Miss Abbott, in connection with other private contributions, will suffice to bring the case again before a jury for the third time. The Dangers of Ballooning. An aeronant named L'Estrange met with an extraordinary escape from death in Australia on Easter Monday. In the presence of thousands of specta-tors he made an ascent from the Agricultural Grounds, on the St. Kilda-road, in the balloon Aurora—the same, it is said, which was used to convey dispatches during the Franco-Prussian war. When the balloon hat attained the great altitude of a mile and three-quarters it suddenly collapsed, the gas bursting through its side, but the para-chute came into play, and, instead of the wreck falling like a stone, it went down in a zigzag course, and finally struck a tree. Women screamed and fainted, some fell on their knees with their hands clasped in prayer, while hundreds of men rushed into the Gov-ernment Domain expecting to find a mangled body, but to their astonishment they discovered L'Estrange alive and almost unburt.

the level of the Lansdowne plateau, a hybrid figure of Columbia-a cross between an Indian squaw and the Goddess of Liberty-stands a silent sentinel, watching the slow but sure decay of the magnificent Centennial monument upon which her outstretched arms cast their dark shadows. Typically speaking, this colossal figure represents the four quarters of the globe, and, as sure as fate, is gradually sliding down a bar of railroad iron through that imposing dome into the gallery below. . From the very first the roof of the structure, composed of heavy iron frames and glass, has been deflective, and long before the Exposition closed the summer showers of 1876 beat through the crevices and threatened the rich works of art that covered its walls and adorned its

The structure, so immense and so artistic, was erected in the short space of twenty months, and consequently was poorly put together. But her weight during the few years that have elapsed since she took up her elevated position has told upon the-dome, which has groaned and creaked and settled. As the bar of iron was immovable and Columbia was bound to go with her foundation, she wendown, and now eighteen inches of bar iron project from her cranium, having forced its way through her skull of

The position of affairs now is critical, and the State Legislature has decided by its recent vote not to appropri ate funds for its repair and care, the public can find much interest in watching the operation of ruthless Time up-on this magnificent pile. By the act of October, 1873, under which the build-ing was erected, its title set forth that it was to be "a permanent Centennial Exposition building, for the people of the Commonwealth in the city of Philadelphia," and the bill specified that it was "to remain in Fairmount Park perpetually, as the property of the peo-ple of this Commonwealth, for the preservation and exhibition of National State relies, and works of art, industry, mechanism and the products of the soil and mines." The State thereupon appropriated one million and the city mething over five hundred thousand dollars for its erection. Although it is fire-proof, experience has proven that it is not water-proof, and unless something is done two years hence by the next Legislature, it will be proof against nothing. As the building is the property of the people of the whole State, just as the State Capitol buildings at Harris-burg, the gentlemen who act as its trustees are amazed at the recent defeat of the bill which appropriated $10,000 frow's assistant from early cannot expend a penny upon it, and there is a fair prospect that the maiden Columbia will continue her slow slide down the iron rod, through the dome, to the ground. In the meantime the roof is showing new gaps, and the wealth of art within is threatened more and more with danger.

The Gainesville, Georgia, Eagle learns from Colonel Wier Boyd, of Dahlonega, that last Wednesday about noon an immense water spout burst in the vicinity of Leather's Ford, about midway between Gainesville and Dahlouega. The locality is that between the Hightower and Chestatee rivers and near the mine of Colonel Baker, on Mill Creek. The water came down in Mill Creek. The water came down in perfect torrents, destroying the sluice boxes, pits and much valuable proper-ty of the mine. The bridge across Mill Creek was carried away, and the loss will be an exceedingly heavy one. The roads are rendered almost impassable and desolation reigns supreme. Fences were destroyed, and a splendid field of wheat belonging to Colonel Smith, just above the mills, was literally carried away, and covered over by the drifting earth. Colonel Boyd says there has not been such a fall of water anywhere in this section for ten years.

Feminine Sweetness.

Willard Brown was deeply in love with Louisa Rarrott, a servant girl in his father's family at Martinsville, Ind. She asked him to make for her a mould of a silver dollar, as she intended to go into business as a counterfeiter, and he consented; but her clumsy efforts to produce bogus coin that would pass, proved a failure. Her next plan for acquiring wealth was to murder and robold Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and she coolly requested Willard to aid her. Al-though her influence over him was very great, he declined to help her murder his parents; he promised never to divulge her proposal. One night he suspected that she was about to carry out her project and watched her. He saw her chloroform the old folks and let in Joe Greer, a desperado, who killed Brown with an iron bar, and badly injured Mrs. Brown. The crime was attributed to tramps, until Willard, jealous of Joe Greer's intimacy with Louisa, spoke out.

Figure Freely. Charlotte Observer A correspondent at Shelby writes the Observer that William Wilson, aged forty-five years, son of Robert Wilson, of Rutherford county, was killed last Saturday afternoon, June 1st, at Amos Owen's, on Cherry mountain. in Rutherford county, by Watson Grigg, son of Jack Grigg, of Cleaveland county. The homicide was the result of a free fight in which about ten braves participated and in which rocks, rails and pistols were freely used under the command of King Alcohol. Two men by the name of Hardin and Powell, began the affray in which Wilson was slain, and over his corpse on the following day many drank whisky, cursed and played the fiddle. Several received wounds, but only one man was killed in the drunken affray. James Powell was badly hurt in the head by fence rails and rocks; William Powell was cut in the breast and head by rocks; he fired seven shots from his pistol; P.

fired seven shots from his pistol; P. Hardin, a brother-in-law of the deceased, Wilson, was slightly injured. Wilson was shot in the head by a pistol and died in a few minutes. He lay neglected and exposed until Sunday afternoon near the spot where he fell. Watson Grigg denies the killing and alleges that he had no pistol in the fight. Grigg has not been arrested and it is thought that he has fled the State. As all parties were intoxicated, and three pistols were used in the fight, it may be difficult to prove who slew Wilson. difficult to prove who slew Wilso

HUMORS OF A RAILROAD WAR.

Tickets From Kansas City to Chicago for Five Cents, With Chromos

Thrown In. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 13.-The railroad war continues with great spirit. The Hannibal and St. Joseph hung out a banner, with "50 cents to Chicago," painted in blood-red letters. The Missouri Pacific immediately placarded, "50 cents to St. Louis." Then came the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern with with a like reduction and a charming chromo thrown in, and the Chicago and Alton bulletined, "as low as the lowest." Men and women are going to Chicago and St. Louis who did not think of going until the war commenced Last night just before train time the announcement was made that the Hannibal and St. Joseph had reduced to 5 cents, and the excitement was fearful. The outgoing trains could not bold the crowds of passengers. News-boys were flying about the streets with tickets for Chicago and St. Louis stuck in their hatbands, and chromos and checks for beer were given to pur-chasers of tickets. The mayor of the city gathered a lot of vagabonds, pau-pers, tramps and colored idlers and shipped them to St. Louis. For some time past St. Louis has been sending paupers to Kansas City, and this move on the part of the mayor in retaliation has caused a good deal of laughter. The latest reports at the railroad offices dred tickets were sold for St. Louis and Chicago each yesterday. There are no indications of a cessation of hostilities, and, amid the excitement at the depot just before the starting of the trains, free tickets were offered by the agents of the Chicago and Alton.

Digest of the Supreme Court Opinions, June Term 1879. [Reported for the News by Walter Clark, Esq., Attorney at Law.]

1. The Washington Toll Bridge Company vs. Commissioners of Beaufort from Beaufort.

Beaufort.

It seems that the grant by the Legislature of an exclusive right to provide means of transit over a river for the space of six miles is inoperative and void, as conferring special privileges if without adequate, or indeed any proper consideration to the State, and that the General Assembly can not by contract or otherwise deprive itself or its successors of the power to provide or au-thorize those increased facilities for transit over its public waters, conferred by the organic law, which the necessi-ties of trade and business may require. Without however passing upon the effect of a repealing statute, as to the above point, further than the intimation thus given, the court holds—that a statute repealing such grant is effectual at least, to withdraw the penalties created in the original act which whather necessity. in the original act which whether pecu-niary or criminal are no part of the ob-ligation of the contract, when full legal

TICKET MAKING.

At the present time nearly every paper in the land is engaged in the extremely pleasant and profitable business of charting out tickets for the consideration of the respective political national conventions. In many instances they are purely personal preferences, and advanced as such; in others they appear to be the result of a strong belief backed up by arguments showing why such candidates should be taken up, the basis of which is "availability." A few weeks since the News published a tabulated statement of the composition of the Electoral College, showing what States were necessary to a Democratic victory in 1880, from which a judgment might be formed as to whom it would be necessary to select the national standard bearer.

On the strength of this the Charlotte Observer in a lengthy article submits the following suggestion:

We, as members of the Democratic Republican party, must, if we value our liberty, elect the next President and Vice President of the United State. Two theories have recently been advanced by which, it is said, we may be successful. First, it is said with Mr. Tilden as our candidate, we may carry the following States: The Southern States, New York, New Jersey,

Total or three more votes than are requisite. Second, it is claimed with Mr. Thurman as our candidate we may be victorious in the following States, viz: 138 votes Southern States, Ohio. Indiana. Michigan, Oregon, 189 Total or four more votes than are necessary. The vital objection to these plans, it that neither is reliable. There is no doubt that we may rely on the vote of the entire South. Can Mr. Tilden, however, carry his own State? Since the origin of the Radical party, it has never had so complete a control of the New York State Legislature as it has

That party not only elected its State ticket last fall by a handsome majority, but the State Assembly is their banner assembly; their majority in that body was never so great during the exciting contests of the war as it is to-day.

As to the second theory, suffice it to say that the only State in the entire North which we may reasonably consider Democratic, is the State of Indiana. Unlike Mr. Thurman, Mr. Hendricks has no foes in his own State. Hendricks was elected Governor he was the only person on the whole Democratic State ticket who was elected, and speaking small. In our opinion we cannot rely upon the vote of Indiana if the friends of Mr. Hendricks are dissatisfied. Even he will not be able to control their indignation if his really paramount claims are

What is to be the issue upon which be simply absurd to make it before the country with any other candidate than that represented upon the ticket in 1876. A moment's reflection will convince the reader that if our party can but carry the States of New York and Indiana the necessary electoral vote will be secured. These States can be carried provided the following named ticket is put in the field: Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, for President.

Sanford E. Church, of New York, for The first named can unquestionably carry his own State.

Can the Empire State be carried by the Chief Justice of its Court of Appeals? · · He is to-day, all things considered, the strongest man in the Demo-cratic party of New York. His selec-tion therefore, as the Democratic candidate for Vice-President would give the ticket, with Hendricks at its head, much more local power that it had in

The Observer labors partially under a mistake in several of its propositions. The Republicans of New York did elect a large majority of the State Legislature last fall, but that is a yearly occurrence, and will be so as long as the present apportionment remains in force. The State constitution provides for periodiodical apportionments of Assemblymen, and for three years, the Republicans being largely in the majority in the Legislature, the apportionment was delayed by certain methods in order that they might retain control. And another thing, last year the most extravagant efforts were put forth by the friends of Mr. Conkling to elect their men in order that he might be returned to the United States Senate. Certain local disturbances in the Democratic ranks aided them materially in their worknotably the Tammany fight in New York city and the mal-administration of affairs in several weak Democratic counties, heightened by the township railroad bouding tax. As for the State ticket, there was but one name on it, the candidate for a judge of the court of appeals. This, the highest legal tribunal in the State, is composed of seven members; and from the first formation till last January five of the seats had been filled by Democrats. In order to give it a less partisan look it was suggested that a Republican was entitled to the position and consequently but little interest was felt in the election, while the captious opposition of John Kelly and his Tammany adherents was felt in the Democratic vote of the city. Since then Mr. Kelly has found out that the enmity displayed toward Mr. Tilden has availed him little, and there is a reasonable prospect that the breach will be healed before the Presidential election takes place, for the simple reason that Mr. Kelly's continuance in his present course would completely kill his political aspirations.

Some time since the New York Times, through a large and able corps of correspondents, canvassed the political situation of the country, and its report would seem to confirm the Observer's statement that the "fraud issue" will be paramount in the next Presidential canvass. Disguise it as you will, there is no doubt there is a deeplyseated feeling that Mr. Tilden was unjustly deprived of the Presidential chair, and that in common justice if it appearance.

can be fairly done he should this time be secured in that position. This, and his known ability to carry the State of New York would naturally make him the most prominent candidate so far as "availab l ty" is concerned.

On the other hand it is very doubtful if Mr. Hendricks could carry Ohio let alone New York. His recent course will not tend to help his canvass, and he might far better bave coincided with the suggestion that the old ticket be nominated. So far as Judge Church is concerned, although a strong man, he is not strong enough for the position, and it is very doubtful if he could command New York's vote in the convention.

We are not advocating Mr. Tilden's emination. There is plenty of time next year for making a ticket, and an unwise advocacy of this or that man might prove detrimental to his interest. What we want is an able man who has sufficient weight to carry the election.

On Wednesday of last week a convention of railroad commissioners from the States having such officers was held at Saratoga, N. Y., when Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., submitted a preliminary report upon State railroad taxation, based on an exhaustive examination of the multifarious systems in operation both in Europe and in this country. He commends the Michigan and Wisconsin systems as the best in this country, and suggests that the subject should be made a matter of mutual understanding among the States. Mr. Adams is the recognized authority on inter-State railroad affairs, and his views will command the attention of those particularly interested. The plan he recommends is thatthe real property being assessed where situate—the entire gross earnings of the corporations should be subject to assessment by each State through which its roads might run in the proportion which the miles of road in that State bear to its whole number of miles. A fuller discussion of the subject is promised in a future report.

THE statement that State Senator Theodore M. Pomeroy, who is also an ex-member of Congress, is believed to have the inside track for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York, is being industriously circulated. As this is one of Mr. Pomeroy's favorite plans for keeping himself prominently before the public and one that has hitherto worked quite successfully, too much importance should not be attached to this announcement. He is a warm friend of Senator Conkling, and has the support of Alonzo Cornell and the chief Conkling fuglemen in New York State, to be sure, and the influence which the Administration can exert in favor of Congressman Hiscock will not have much effect in lessening But we must remember that when Mr. | Pomeroy's chances; but there is a more powerful man than he who is biding his time-we refer to Judge Robertson, who probably commands as much soli strength as any man in the State, and he has been a very strong Grant man, whatever he may now be.

> THE report is received that the royal beast who rejoices in the title of Kine extinguisher on this imperial menster the civilized world would rejoice.— New Orleans Democrat.

Why should England be selected to humanize Burmah? The English have been doing so much missionary business of a like nature where bullets have figured more extensively than bibles that her civilizing influences bear a smack of burlesque about them strongly akin to our national efforts with the Indians. A far cheaper and more sensible way would be to let the Burmese kill each other off (to prevent them experiencing the effects of another famine), and then seize on the territory.

THE editor of the Chicago Tribune evidently writes his leaders with the aid of Mr. ex-Minister Schenck's "Poker Manual." Whether or no the enlightened Republicans of Chicago are unable to understand any other style of language we really cannot say, but Republicans and Democrats in this section alike are unable to extract much solid comfort from this bit of information: "Foster holds a 'flush', which will "beat the Democratic 'pair of jacks' and "take the 'pot'."

THE grand temple of character may be long in building. It must be a thing of growth. Its formation begins with the child of tender years, and under proper influences the noble principles combined to constitute it will grow with his growth and strengthen with his strength. When the temple is completed it is the grandest structure world can ever see. From the foundation stone-faith-to the key of the arch—charity—it is perfect, symmetrical, beautiful, immortal.—Hon. George W. McCrary.

About twelve years I suffered from Dys pepsia. Falting in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could est any thing with imsunity. I am sure I am in debted to this medicine for what of health as dephysical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years, I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

R v Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.
I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colle, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hart. I have recommended it to other sufferers with hap-plest results. It is the best toole and correc-tive I ever knew For protration from Dy-persia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J D. Eggleston, M D., Va
It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single acticle in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion, I use it and recommend it. Editor Richmond Curistian Advecate.
This remedy is of tr'ed virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cu ed completely by it. It seems to be an anti-tote to our "Nation I Disease."

We have been favored, through the courtesy of Dr. Thomas F. Wood, of this city, Secretary of the State Board of Health, with an advance copy of the bianks which are to be furnished to every physician throughout the country, in which are to be recorded the age, occupation, sex, social position, race, date and cause of the death of every person, during the year, to whom they have rendered medical attend-ance. These blanks when thus filled out, to embrace the year commencing on the 1st day of June, 1879 and ending on the 31st day of May, 1880 both inciusive, are to be forwarded to the Superintendent of the Census, to be used in obtaining more complete and accurate mortuary statistics than have heretofore been given, and to be made a part of the census report which is to be made in 1880. This plan was very argently recommended to the American Medical Association, and at the late convention of that body at Atlanta, Ga., resolutions giving the fullest indersement to the measure were unanimously adopted. All the expense incident to the carrying out of the plan, save the mere act of filling out the blanks, will be paid by the Government and any money paid out for stamps or in other correspondence legitimately arising from this service will be immediately refunded.

The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsa, Indugestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HERATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidi 7, causes the Liver to throw off from one to 800 onness of bile end through the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yelle we complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepatine in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best (and some of the worst) physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at for two years, be-fore using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents.

Haunted Me.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor. I procured Hop Bitters and com-menced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost.—

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. -The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observ-ing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may doem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully, WILLIAM BARR. LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she con-tinued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WAD-DILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News. For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh,
